CONFlict NOT TO STOP EVENT

Educational Day and Rushville Pitch in at City Park Fall on Same Date, it is Found.

BOTH TO WORK IN TOGETHER

Country People Invited to Remain and Join With Rushville in Cleaning up the City Park.

C. M. George, county superintendent of the schools, has called the attention of the officers of the Civic Improvement and Social Service Association of Rushville to the fact that the date set for the lawn party and pitch-in supper that is to be held at the city park Wednesday afternoon and evening under its auspices falls on the same date as county educational day.

Since the educational-day exercises will be held in the coliseum in the city park, it was feared by the officers of the association that, due to the conflict in date, it would be necessary to postpone the civic improvement affair. The officers regret to take such a step after the event had been advertised for Wednesday.

County Superintendent George stepped into the breach nicely and said that there was no need of postponing the pitch-in. He said that it would not hinder the educational day program in the least but that the county school authorities would be pleased to have the Rushville people come as early as they could and hear the program. It will be concluded in time so as not to interfere with the plan mapped out by the civic improvement association.

The officers of the association announced that they would like for the country people who will attend the educational day exercises to stay for the pitch-in. They are urged to bring their suppers and help out on the plan suggested to better the appearance of the city park. It is thought that many of them will join with the Rushville people because a beautiful city park would be as great a source of pride to them as to Rushville residents.

People who plan to attend the event Wednesday afternoon and evening are urged to remember that the association will furnish coffee, cream and sugar free of charge. But women are reminded not to forget to bring cups along with their other dishes for serving supper. It is proposed for the men to cut the grass in some part of the park and clean it up generally so as to help its appearance.

REMOVAL OF BANK REVEALS A STRANGE COINCIDENCE

The removal of the Peoples National bank and the Peoples Loan & Trust company today to the old Rushville National bank building in East Second street to make way for the erection of a new building at the corner of Main and Second streets to house the two institutions recalls that it was in this building that the late Edwin Payne, who founded the Peoples bank and whose sons, Earl and Ralph Payne, are now its president and cashier, first received his banking experience and acted as cashier of the Rushville National bank.

Mr. Payne, who was one of the best financiers in the history of the

2 BARNs BURN TO GROUND

Account For Reflection in North From Rushville.

A bright red glow in the northern horizon last Friday evening caused many people to believe that there was a big fire north of the city. Investigation Saturday failed to reveal any fire in northern Rush county. It has since been learned that two large barns not a mile apart, located on the Mathew Maxwell and Joseph Carey farm four miles north of Knightstown, were hit by lightning at about the same time and fired. They both burned to the ground. The loss in each instance is large, although some insurance as carried.

ANNUAL MEETING TO BE AT GLENWOOD

Women's Home Missionary Society of the Connersville District Will Convene There Thursday.

HIGH OFFICERS TO ATTEND

The annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Connersville district in the Indiana conference of the Methodist church will be held at Glenwood on Thursday. There will be approximately forty delegates in attendance in addition to the many guests that are expected. The members of the Rushville society expect to attend in body and take luncheon with the delegates.

The national field secretary, Mrs. C. Weaver, and the conference officers, including Mrs. Madison Swadner, will be present. The meeting will be an all-day affair, with morning, afternoon and night sessions. The duty of arranging for the meeting fell on the shoulders of Mrs. R. C. Hargrove of this city because of the illness of the president. She is first vice-president.

The societies in the Connersville district are located at College Corner, Connersville, Glenwood, Robinson's Chapel in Shelby county, Shelbyville (two), Brookville and Rushville.

SCHOOL HOUSE CONTROVERSY.

The location of a school building in Lewisville promises to cause a row, as various sites have been mentioned and have their backers starting a controversy and the Henry county school superintendent has not recommended a site, and he can not do so only on land owned by the township, and as yet the township does not own the ground. Bids on the structure will be received June 25th.

BIGAMIST FOUND IN KNIGHTSTOWN

Arrest of Charles W. Reed, Alias Charles Reamer, Deprives Widow of Her Husband.

ASKS HIM TO WRITE TO HER

Wife No. 1 Charges That Prisoner Took $700 Worth of Jewelry When he Left Her Home.

Sheriff Kirk and Deputy Wilson of Henry county, late Saturday night arrested Charles W. Reed, alias Charles Reamer, age fifty-three years, at his new-found home in Knightstown on a charge of bigamy which was preferred by his first wife, Mrs. Guerney Tuttle-Reed of Jersey City, New Jersey.

Mrs. Tuttle-Reed offered evidence to show that she and the prisoner were married March 8 at Jersey City by the Rev. John T. Morgan of the Clairmount Presbyterian church in Jersey City. On May 1, Mrs. Reed's husband married Mrs. Nancy Bailey, 64 years old, a well-to-do widow of Knightstown. The Rev. Charles E. Shultz of Newcastle performed the ceremony. He gave the name of Charles Reamer, by which he was known in Knightstown.

Mrs. Reed charged in her affidavit which was forwarded from Rochester, N. Y., to which city her husband went a few weeks after the first marriage, that he departed with almost $700 worth of diamonds and a large amount of money, how much she says she can not tell.

Mrs. Reed is living temporarily at Rochester, from which point she directed the investigation which resulted in Reed's arrest Saturday night. A Mrs. Brown of Wabash, Ind., who was reared by Mrs. Bailey, is said to have something to do with disclosing the whereabouts of Reed to his first wife, acting in behalf of Mrs. Bailey.

When arrested Reed admitted his identity, although he had shaved off a heavy mustache. "Yes, I am the man wanted for bigamy," he said. "I am 53 years old and am awfully sorry I did it. I was a long time getting started to marrying, but after I got started I certainly went some."

When questioned about his first wife's diamonds he admitted taking them and the money, but he would not say what he had done with them, since he was not yet charged with the theft.

Reed became acquainted with Mrs. Bailey of Knightstown through an eastern matrimonial agency. He says he began corresponding with her about the first of April. He saw her for the first time May 1 and they went to Newcastle and were married. They returned to Knightstown and occupied one of the bride's homes.

Mrs. Bailey asked Reed to write to her while he was in jail.

BLIND MAN STRICKEN.

C. L. Jones, an aged resident of St. Paul, was found unconscious on the floor of his home Friday. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis during the night and his whole left side was stricken. He was at once carried to his bed and a physician summoned, who pronounced his case critical. Mr. Jones has been living alone for the past several years, since the death of his wife. He lost his eyesight about two years ago and since that time has been caring for himself in a very feeble manner, although he still persisted in staying alone at his home.

REAR WHEEL OF AUTO COMES OFF

AUOT STAYS RIGHT SIDE UP

Accident Happens Sunday Night Near Omer Gartin's Farm Four Miles North of Rushville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kramer and son William had a narrow escape from serious injury last evening while returning home in their automobile from spending Sunday with relatives in Tipton, when the driving axle on the left side broke and the back wheel on the same side spun off.

Although the automobile was traveling twenty miles an hour when the wheel came off, it did not upset, which is considered very fortunate. When the axle began dragging the ground, Mr. Kramer realized what had happened and steered the machine to the side of the road where it rested until today when it was brought into the city.

Mr. Kramer did not realize that he was so near the sharp turn in the road just above Omer Gartin's farm, four miles north of the city. It loomed up suddenly, and in making the turn, the machine swerved out to the side of the road. In doing so it struck a ditch when it is supposed the axle was broken.

When nothing happened after hitting the ditch, Mr. Kramer supposed that nothing had been broken, and the suddenly dropping of the left end of the rear axle frightened him for an instant. The brake band had held the wheel on for a quarter of a mile.

It was a half hour before Mr. Kramer could locate the wheel which had come off. Since it was the left wheel, he naturally supposed that it was on the left side of the road. He searched along the roadside for a half hour, and since it was so dark he presumed that he had overlooked it. Finally he chanced to look on the other side of the road and found the wheel. It had been thrown to that side when the car was turned suddenly after the wheel came off.

The accident happened in front of Omer Gartin's farm house. Mr. Kramer roused him from bed and he brought Mr. and Mrs. Kramer and son to Rushville in his machine.

COLDEST JUNE IN 57 YEARS

A. G. Reeves Recalls Blighting Frost of June 9, 1856, When All Crops Were Injured.

FROST PREDICTED TONIGHT

Sunday Paraders Pull Out Their Winter Clothes and Still They Shiver.

Rushville and Rush county people are experiencing the coldest June weather in fifty-seven years. That's the statement of many of the older people of the city who recall the severe June of 1856, when a heavy blighting frost fell the night of June ninth, and the morning of June tenth, which is fifty-seven years ago tonight, that killed many of the standing crops.

Many thermometers this morning recorded a temperature of thirty-eight degrees, just before sunrise, which is the coldest temperature which was ever recorded in Indiana, according to the records.

The worst feature is that no relief is promised. The weather bureau says that there is likely to be a light frost in the northern portion of Indiana tonight. Whether there was any evidence of frost this morning is a question that is open to debate. There were men today who contend that frost fell last night and others contradicted this assertion.

Sunday paraders pulled their heavy winter clothes from the presses where they had been stowed away housecleaning day for the summer and donned them. Men who wore straw hats yesterday apologized yesterday when they met their friends and women shivered even with winter furs on.

A. G. Reeves calls attention to the killing frost which fell fifty-seven years ago tonight. He says the corn and everything growing showed the effects of it the morning of the tenth. He declares the last two days reminded him of that time very distinctly. He recalls that plenty of heavy strawed wheat that year yielded next to nothing at all.

AUTO TURNS OVER TWICE IN THE AIR

Two Indianapolis Men Have Narrow Escape in Accident Near Glenwood.

ARE THROWN CLEAR OFF CAR

Kenneth Woolling and George Spiegel of Indianapolis were severely hurt late Saturday evening when their automobile skidded and upset about two miles east of Glenwood. They were on their way from Connersville to Indianapolis, where they had gone to get an automobile for a concern by which Spiegel is employed.

The two men attempted to pass a vehicle which was not giving their car much of the road. They were going a good clip, and in passing the buggy, their auto skidded. It was reported in Glenwood that the machine turned over twice before it hit the ground. Fortunately the two men were thrown clear of the car else they might have been killed. They were taken back to Connersville in a buggy and returned to Indianapolis on the I. & C.

COLORED WOMAN DISPLAYS FIGHT

Mrs. James Herbert Becomes Violently Insane and Police Are Called to Quiet Her.

MAY BE TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Mrs. Mattie Herbert, colored, widow of the late James Herbert, became violently insane yesterday morning and the police were called to prevent her from doing someone bodily harm. Mrs. Herbert left her home in East Eighth street saying that she was going to Kentucky. She was found north of the city and fought off all persons who attempted to take her home. Howard Stewart attempted to quiet her and was knocked down. Mrs. Herbert displayed great strength and was taken home by Chief McAllister and Dr. Coleman. On arriving at the house Mrs. Herbert kicked a glass out of the door.

Mrs. Herbert has been acting very queer since her husband's death and it is thought she will have to be removed to an asylum. Mr. Herbert was drowned during the high waters of last March and this is believed to be responsible for the woman becoming insane.

Taxing Your Income

What would you think of an income tax equal to the amount of money you waste each year by careless buying?

The sum would startle many of us who are not considered extravagant in the common acceptance of the word. And yet we go along the even tenor of our way, happy that we have enough to live on and a little to spare, perhaps.

But aside from extravagance as such, are you taxing your income more every day purchasing of the necessities of life? That is the important question.

It is so easy for us Americans to indulge in careless buying that it behooves all of us to pay attention to what we buy and where we buy it. We must make our dollars work for us 100 per cent, or we are taxing our incomes constantly.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN and other good newspapers will help you in your buying if you will but study the interesting and instructive advertising presented daily.

MAY FIRE LOSS NEAR A MILLION

Figures Compiled in State Fire Marshal's Office Shows $842,565 Worth of Property Destroyed.

LIGHTNING TAKES "HONORS"

Fourteen Fires During Last Week of the Month Were of Unknown Origin—Other causes.

Indiana's reported fire loss during the month of May will come close to $1,000,000.

Figures compiled from incomplete reports by W. E. Longley, state marshal, show a loss by fire for the first twenty-eight days of May, of $842,565.

This makes the average loss per day, a little more than $30,000. The loss for the last three days of May could thus be estimated at $90,000. This would make a grand total for May of $932,565. But should there be one or two "big" fires, the months' loss would easily go beyond $1,000,000.

Reports of loss received during the fourth week in May, aggregated $125,875. There were fifty-eight fires.

This is a decrease in the number of fires when compared with the third week's record—seventy-three. But during the third week there was a lower reported loss—$94,700—or an average of $1,297 for each fire. During the fourth week the average loss at each fire was $2,170.

The first four weeks of May showed at total of 331 fires, with an average loss of $2,554. The heaviest losses occurred early in the month, the total for the first two weeks being $621,900. The second two weeks gave a much lower loss, falling to $220,575.

Of the definite causes assigned to the fires reported during the fourth week in May, lightning again took high "honors." Thirteen of the week's fires were due to lightning—and in one of these thirteen fires a boy was killed.

The largest numerical classification is that of "unknown" origin. Fourteen of the week's fires were listed as of unknown origin, although in some cases various opinions may have prevailed.

Fires due to carelessness with matches and cigars came third in order, there being eight of these fires. Next were the "adjoining" fires, in which one burning building sets fire to another.

Stoves caused three fires, three are attributed to incendiaries and two to defective flues. Ashes and trash caused one fire, another due to an explosion, sparks from locomotives and chimneys fired three buildings and there were two fires caused in an unusual manner.

In one case a boy was holding a lamp so that a physician might have better light while he set a broken arm of the boy's brother. The boy fainted during the process, dropped the lamp and caused a fire. There was another fire caused by a painter who was using a "torch" to remove paint from a house, preparatory to giving it a new coat. The "torch" set fire to the house.

RESERVE CORPS TO BE ENLARGED

War Department Relying Upon College Boys.

SPECIAL MILITARY CAMPS

Rudiments of the Army Game Are to Be Presented to a Picked Corps of College Students in Encampments to Be Established During the Coming Vacation Season as a Means of Recruiting Material for Army Officers.

Washington, June 9.—Officers of the army at Washington and Secretary of War Garrison have been much gratified by the response to the department's invitation to college students to enter special camps to be established for their benefit during the forthcoming vacation season. One of the camps will be at Gettysburg, Pa., and the other at the Presidio of Monterey, Cal.

The plan is a decided innovation not only in the United States, but in all other armies. It originated with General Wood and was approved some weeks ago by Secretary Garrison. In view of the late date at which it was decided to put the plan into effect this summer the war department is especially pleased that approximately 500 college students will attend the two camps.

The plan for the encampments at which the college men will be taught some of the rudiments of military life was presented to the college men of the east and went through the heads of more than 100 institutions selected. Favorable response has been received from the college presidents, most of whom have given hearty aid to the plan.

Speaking of the innovation, Secretary Garrison said: "The object of the summer camps for college students is to give, in as concise a manner as possible in the short time allowed, the rudiments of military training, thereby increasing the present inadequate military reserve of the United States by a class of men from whom will be drawn in large measure the commanding officers necessary in time of a national emergency."

THE INVESTIGATION BEGINS

Senate Sends Committee of Inquiry Right Into Coal Fields.

Washington, June 9.—The sub-committee of the United States senate committee on education and labor will leave Washington today to begin at Charleston, W. Va., the investigation of industrial conditions in the coal mining region of that state. During their stay in West Virginia the sub-committee will make their headquarters at Charleston, the business center of the Kanawha valley coal bearing region. Side trips to the mining towns will be made out of Charleston daily by special trains in order that the investigators may have opportunity for first hand investigation of the conditions complained of by both sides in the controversy.

The sub-committee consists of Senators Swanson of Virginia, chairman; Martine of New Jersey and Shields of Tennessee, Democrats; Borah of Idaho and Kenyon of Iowa, Republicans.

London, June 9.—There was another suffragette meeting in Hyde Park Sunday which resulted in the usual trouble. The big crowd baited the women, rushed them off their feet and tore their clothes.

MINER IS A COMPOSER.

Welsh Colliery Worker Has Written Many Hymns.

Living with his wife and children in John street, Bargoed-a-Glamorganshire village, in Wales, is a colliery-composer, who has written the words and music of 130 hymns and thirty songs. These are known and loved in almost every Welsh homestead. His name is David Jones, and he is thirty-nine years old. Since the age of twelve he has worked in the pits thinking out the tunes of hymns as he picks out the coal in the darkness of the mine. Nearly 40,000 copies of his hymns and songs are sold every year.

"I started work in the mine when I was twelve years old," he said, "and even then I always wanted to be a musician. I used to fancy I could hear beautiful musical sounds when at work in the coal pit. Not until 1898, when the great coal strike was on, did I begin to write down music. I managed to have two years' musical training at that time, but otherwise I am quite self taught."

Mutes "Sense" a Shock.

The explosion of an overcharge of dynamite recently in a subway excavation in New York city created a panic among the inmates of a deaf and dumb asylum a considerable distance from where the blast was fired. The mutes did not hear the crash, but they "sensed" it by means of the resulting vibrations.

SCIENTISTS FIND ANCIENT QUIVERA

Site of Lost City on Loup River In Nebraska.

WAS SOUGHT BY CORONADO

White Men Were There in Search of Gold Eighty Years Before the Pilgrim Fathers Landed in New England—Vast Ruins Will Be Excavated by Archeologists This Summer.

Western archaeologists, headed by Dr. Robert F. Gilder of Omaha, have at last succeeded in locating the exact site of the ancient city of Quivira, for which Coronado and the old Spanish conquerors searched so diligently and fought so valiantly, and during the coming summer a party of archaeologists and scientists will make excavations and explorations, which are expected to throw considerable light on the people of the kingdom whose location has been in doubt for 400 years and more.

The ruins of the ancient city skirt the Loup river in Nebraska for several miles, and, according to those who have visited them, the population at one time must have been enormous.

While it has been known for a number of years that Quivira was somewhere in Nebraska, the exact spot had not been definitely settled.

Nebraska is generally looked upon as a country comparatively new to white men. Nevertheless eighty years before the landing of the pilgrims on Plymouth rock the fauna and flora of Nebraska had been written about by a white scientist, eighty-seven years before Hendrick Hudson sailed up the Hudson river a party of white men floated down the Ilatte; sixty-six years before the English settled in Jamestown and Captain John Smith found undying fame white men and Indians were on the best of terms on the Nebraska prairies.

Found Golden Corn.

These early white men went to Nebraska seeking the city of Quivira, where gold was supposed to be so plentiful that it had no value. They found yellow corn instead of the yellow gold, and they went back home in disgust. But they left their footprints behind them, and these have been traced back to the very city to conquer which white men marched more than 1,000 miles, enduring all manner of hardships, and then marched back again.

Twenty-five years or so ago, near Riverton, Neb., a farmer dug up an ancient stirrup. It was so strange to him that he sent it to the state museum. There it was recognized as being the exact counterpart, both in shape and material, of those used for centuries by Moorish horsemen and Spanish knights errant.

It had been made on a blacksmith's anvil of iron or steel, and the blows of the hammer were yet visible.

Constant use had worn a small hole through the center. It is eleven inches long, four inches wide and weighs one and three-quarter pounds.

The finding of the ancient Spanish stirrup revived the old story of the early Spanish expedition to Nebraska and so stirred the souls of Nebraska archeologists that James W. Savage made a personal trip to Madrid for the purpose of delving into the records in the Spanish court archives concerning the expedition of Coronado, Casteneda, Pensalosa and others to the kingdom of Quivira.

How Place Was Found.

As a result of years of research Mr. Savage gave the following summary of his reasons for locating Quivira just north of the Platte river in Nebraska:

"Quivira was situated northeasterly from Santa Fe. It was distant from the latter city 800 or 900 miles. It was north of the fortieth parallel, the southern boundary of Nebraska. It lay north of a wide but fordable stream."

In describing the city of Quivira the Spaniard wrote: "This was one of the cities of Quivira. It contained thousands of houses, mostly circular in shape, some two, three and even four stories in height, framed of a hard wood believed to be black walnut and skillfully thatched. It extended along the river for more than two leagues, at which distance a third stream flowed into the second. Beyond this the city again stretched out for many leagues."

+ Obituary.

The passing of a loved one from our midst invariably levies a tax of sadness upon our emotions which for days, yea, months and even years weighs our spirits down. And—but for a knowledge of the consistency of manner in which the departed friends lived here in relation to the life to come, we might well totter under our burden of sorrow.

The passing of a little child weighs upon us only in so far as we realize that we shall be deprived of its presence and the pleasure of its cunning ways. Beyond we are assured of its place in eternity for the words of the Master, "Suffer little children to come into me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Robert McNair was born in Cambellstown, Scotland, Oct. 29, 1838. At the age of seven years he was brought to America by his parents who settled in Clinton county, Ohio, near the town of Batavia, where Mr. McNair took out the papers necessary to establish him as an American citizen. To the country of his adoption he has ever since been loyal and in 1863 he enlisted in the service of his country in the 185th Ohio infantry where he served until the close of the war. On Dec. 16th, 1867 he was united in wedlock to Miss Nancy E. Robinson. To this union were born two boys Charles S. and Alexander H. McNair, both of whom are still living. His wife departed this life in 1877. After a number of years of widowed life he finally removed to Indiana where he was married to Miss Mary Viola Matney, June 13th, 1901. To this union was born one daughter, Ida Teressa McNair who died in infancy. He united with the Christian church at Little Flatrock church where he has kept his membership ever since. Upon religious matters his mind dwelt and clung with true Scotch earnestness and his everyday life reflected these results in his habitual good nature, his honesty and uprightness toward all mankind. A favorite passage with him was Ecclesiastes, 12-1. Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say I have no pleasure in them."

In point of obedience of this admonition we may say that his life was all youthful for he never lost sight of the teaching of this beautiful passage.

A Puerile Attempt.

The puerility of the senate's investigation into the character and conduct of its own membership is the more apparent when it is considered that no senator would be likely to disclose facts discreditable to himself, if there were any. Doubtless there has been perfectly legitimate lobbying both for and against the pending tariff bill by interests and industries, domestic and foreign, affected by the new measures. The charge of corruption brought in veiled way by the president, fastens itself most annoyingly upon the limited number of members of the senate belonging to the majority who have been disposed to waver on the wool and sugar schedules because of local opposition to them.

These senators are mad clear through. They are declaring that if the president were sincere in his statement, if he had not, as a matter of fact, been engaged in grand standing, he would have made his statement about lobbying specific rather than general. In fact talk about the president's meddlesomeness is not uncommon among democratic members of both branches of congress. The suggestion is made that Mr. Wilson was elected president, but he was not thereby made the entire government of the United States. These smouldering sparks of opposition are certain to be fanned into flame by the president's pursuance of his policy of reprisal directed against his critics and opponents, as already exemplified in his attitude toward some democratic leaders, and open opposition may soon be expected. The situation reminds one senator of the fact that before President Wilson left Princeton university, about half the faculty wouldn't speak to the other half.

Against Fakery.

Detroit Saturday Night, a virile Michigan weekly, has joined the campaign against fakery. It has studied the field, has gathered facts about frauds at its very door, and now presents its opinions of them in a fashion that is terse, direct and sure. The Detroit paper offers "stories" that grip the interest even of those already familiar with the facts. Its charges are neither loose and vague nor purposely generalized to evade reprisal. If any reprisal were possible, Detroit Saturday Night would have known it ere now; for its reports have all the explicitness that names, places, analyses and figures can ensure, and its vocabulary includes the most vigorous terms. It knows, furthermore, the meaning of a testimonial and a death certificate side by side! But the real effect does not depend merely on crisp sentences and good headlines. The paper adorns its tale but it also points a moral. It can ask embarrassing questions. For instance: If the claims of cure-all be true, why do not papers carrying the advertisements of these cure-all proclaim their worth in prominent

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

WHEN IT STICKS.

(Muncie Press.)

Have you ever noticed that the fellow who is freest with the short and ugly word and the long and libelous epithet is the quickest to enter uproarious protest whenever anybody applies the same treatment to him?

There is the Colonel, who has just received six cents damages and a vindication of the charge of being a drunkard. Has anyone in the United States wished more epithets on more people, with the full knowledge that nobody can deal in abuse by wholesale without at least occasionally transgressing the limits of justice and strict veracity?

Suppose all the people that Colonel Roosevelt has accused of things it would be a bit difficult to prove in court, were to enter suit against him? The chances are that the Colonel would be kept in court for the remainder of his natural life, and at six cents per judgment he would ultimately grow broke.

In the Columbia club at Indianapolis, in the presence of a number of people, Colonel Roosevelt called Judge Anderson a "crook and a jackass." Can the Colonel prove it in court even with Senator Beveridge present to offer his explanation of the circumstance, in line with the Ishpeming libel, as given by the senator to John Bonnell? No one believes he could. The crime committed by the judge, in fact, was that of deciding a point in law against the Colonel.

the Colonel. The man who is continually making charges he couldn't prove in court and indulging in violent obfuscations against those who do not disagree with him, ought to expect and be willing to endure a little of the same treatment. The origin of the Ishpeming editor's libel was the act of Colonel Roosevelt in making a violent and unjust attack upon a Michigan congressman whose offense consisted of not supporting the Colonel for a third term. The man who is continually throwing bricks, oughtn't to protest very loudly if he gets a blow under the belt.

IVY COMPANY LEADS PARADE

Local Uniform Rank Members Placed

First at Annual Inspection Because of Numbers and Record.

HELD AT NEWCASTLE SUNDAY

Samuel L. Trabue, Adjutant General on Major General's Staff, One of Inspecting Officers.

As is usually the case, Ivy company No. 35, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of this city, lead the Third Regiment in the annual memorial services and inspection held at Newcastle yesterday. The Rushville company was selected because of its past record and due to the fact that it had a larger representation yesterday than any other company attending.

The local company has an enviable record in Uniform Rank circles. The company won a first prize at the national encampment at Louisville, Ky., a few years ago, and now comes the announcement that the Third Regiment, of which the Rushville company is a member, has been selected to make the dress parade the opening night of the coming tri-state encampment which will be held in Danville, Ill., August 18 to 22. An Indiana regiment was selected and the honor of representing the state has been conferred on the Third.

Ivy company is anxious to have a full company at the coming encampment. If such a thing can be done, Samuel Trabue of the local company, who is adjutant general on the staff of Major General Arthur J. Stobart, commanding the Uniform Rank companies of the United States and Canada, hopes to have the Rushville company try for the first purse in class B.

Delegations were present yesterday for the memorial and inspection from Richmond, Connersville, Cambridge City, Mooreland, Wilkinson, Rushville and the Newcastle companies. The attendance was light, as compared with past years, because many of the companies' new uniforms did not arrive in time.

The regimental officer lead the procession, followed by the Hagers town band. Then came the Uniform Rank companies, the speakers fourth the inspecting officers fifth and the subordinate lodge members next. The procession passed through the city to South mound cemetery where the memorial services were held. The main address was made by Horace G. Tergin of Newcastle.

Afterwards the annual inspection was held. The inspection officers were Samuel L. Trabue of this city, by reason of his connection on the staff of the major general, the highest commanding officer, and Brigadier General William B. Gray of Covington, commanding the companies of Indiana.

PLAY 9 INNING DRAW.

Arlington and an Indianapolis amateur team played for nine innings yesterday with the score a tie and the game was called at six o'clock because of the state law which allows Sunday baseball only between the hours of one and six. The score was 14 to 14.

Mrs. Myra Moore returned to her home in Greenfield this afternoon after a visit with Mrs. Joseph L. Cowing.

Sterling P. Green, Formerly of Rushville, Found Wandering in Woods Near Greenfield Saturday.

SECOND ESCAPADE OF KIND

Sterling P. Green of Greenfield, formerly a drayman of this city, who has been missing from his home for a week, was found Saturday in a secluded spot on a farm northwest of Greenfield by Ora Myers, mayor, and William W. Shumay, city marshal, of Greenfield.

Mr. Green has two brothers living in this county and is remembered by many Rushville people. It has not been many months ago that he wandered from his home and was found in a barn on a farm near Manilla after he had been wandering about the country in a demented condition for three days.

Mrs. Green, called Mayor Myers early Saturday morning, the Greenfield Reporter says, and said that it was reported that a man had been seen about a pump near the woodland in which the missing man was found. The mayor took the marshal in his automobile and went in search immediately. When they reached the woods the mayor, securing an elevated position, called the name of the missing man several times. He kept as close a survey of the surroundings as possible, and in a short time he saw a man rise from the ground, climb a wire fence, and start slowly in an opposite direction. It proved to be Green.

Mrs. Jane McClintoc, who spent a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Shropshire in East Third street, and other Rushville friends, returned to Greenfield Saturday evening.

Mrs. T. E. McAllister has returned from a visit in Vernon, Ind. The Misses Lena Willerman and Anna Hardwell returned home with Mrs. McAllister for a visit.

New York, June 9.—At the central headquarters here, delegates from the local branches of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen in the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Connecticut, held a special meeting at which the question of demanding better conditions for the workers in the different plants of the Standard Oil company was taken up. The chairman was Timothy Healy, president of the Brotherhood, who denounced the alleged treatment of the firemen, oilers and others in these plants as beyond endurance. It was decided to start organizing the men thoroughly in preparation for making a demand in all the plants for the eight-hour work day, the present working hours, it was stated, being seventy-two a week.

It was also decided that a demand will be made on the state labor department of New Jersey, where most of the largest plants of the company are, to start an investigation of the conditions under which the Standard Oil employees are working. According to the officers of the brotherhood, most of the 75,000 employees of the company are ready to strike, but before any action of this kind is taken, it was stated they will wait for the result of the investigation which is to be demanded.

Prisoners' Gratitude.*NOTHING LIKE IT IN HISTORY

Standing Unique Among All Examples of Memorial Art is the Statue to the Memory of Col. Richard Dale Owen, Commander of Camp Morton During War Times, Which Was Erected by the Contributions of the Grateful Men Who Were Under His Care.

Indianapolis, June 9.—Today when the bust of Colonel Richard Dale Owen was unveiled at the statehouse an event new to history took place in Indianapolis.

The statue is a tribute from Confederate prisoners of war at Camp Morton in 1862 and their friends to Colonel Owen's courtesy and kindness as commander of the prison camp. History contains no record of any other such tribute ever having been paid. Appropriate exercises marked the dedication of the statue. Governor Ralston presided and Vice President Marshall delivered the address of acceptance.

General Bennet H. Young, commandant-in-chief of the United Commander Veterans, made the presentation address and the program concluded with an address by President William Lowe Bryan of Indiana university, where Colonel Owen was long a professor and where his memory has been perpetuated by the naming of Owen Hall for him.

Under the direction of Miss Belle Kinney, the sculptor, the bust of Colonel Owen was put in place in the niche at the statehouse Saturday. S. A. Cunningham, editor of the Confederate Veteran, arrived from his home at Nashville, Tenn., with Vice President and Mrs. Marshall to help make the final arrangements for the dedication. Mr. Cunningham originated the movement to pay a tribute to the memory of Colonel Owen, and it is through his efforts that the project was carried to a successful completion.

In the base of the statue was placed a tin box containing the names of 3,233 Confederate prisoners who were confined at Camp Morton March 17, 1862. Among the guests of honor at the exercises was Horace P. Owen of New Harmony, a son of Colonel Owen.

Authorities Have Been Unable to Get
Trace of Airless Patton.

Bloomington, Ind., June 9.—The Monroe county grand jury has returned an indictment against Airless Patton, charging him with the murder of his brother-in-law, Virgil Young, at a country dance at the home of Otis May on March 22. Patton escaped after the killing and has not been heard from since by the local officers. It is said he entered the dance room intoxicated while his sister and her husband were having a friendly scuffle over the possession of some chewing gum. Patton fired three times, the first two bullets hitting Young and the last one putting out the light. Patton escaped in the darkness.

Neglected to Change His Gear.

South Bend, Ind., June 9.—Joseph Turnock, seventy-seven years old, secretary of the South Bend Building and Loan association, was killed by his own automobile. The machine went "dead" and Mr. Turnock got out and cranked it without changing gears. The car started suddenly and threw him against a trolley pole.

He Wouldn't Tell.

Petersburg, Ind., June 9.—Harry Conrad of this city was caught by the officers with a half pint of whisky in his possession. Conrad refused to tell where he got it and was fined, with costs, amounting to $35. Conrad refused to let his friends pay the fine and went to jail.

MANY WAITING TO BE HEARD

Lobby Inquiry Has Called Out a Horde of Witnesses.

Washington, June 9.—The investigation of the lobby said to be working for the defeat of the Underwood-Simmons bill was resumed today. All the alleged lobbyists, big and little, and a horde of witnesses supposed to have knowledge of their activities were on hand. Nearly a dozen senators remain to be heard.

There is likelihood that the senate investigation will extend outside the alleged tariff lobby.

The committee has on its list representatives of the Indian lobby, the railroad lobby and the lobby for the great shipbuilding concerns that organized to fight for the present law forbidding to railway-owned ships the use of the Panama canal.

More Ulster Rifles Seized.

London, June 9.—The seizure of 500 rifles by the customs officials at Dublin yesterday was the result of a tip sent from London, where it is said that big consignments of arms are arriving here from the continent for Ireland. Two or three small vessels which are suspected of gun running have been closely watched.

He—"I venture to ask, madam, if you would endeavor to spare me something for the Home for Broken-Down Washerwomen?"
Anty Drudge—"Certainly. I'll donate a box of Fels-Naptha Soap. Tell them to use it according to directions, and they will still be able to do washing, because the Fels-Naptha way banishes all the back breaking and hard rubbing of wash day and cuts washday work in half."

Why do so many women who do their own work grow old before their time?

The weekly washing is responsible for their breaking down, if they wash in the old-fashioned way.

But the Fels-Naptha way is just as different from the old way of washing as Fels-Naptha is different from all other soaps.

Only cool or lukewarm water is needed and no hard rubbing required.

In a nutshell, Fels-Naptha does most of the work itself without human assistance.

In using Fels-Naptha, follow the exact directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

The Perfect Construction of a Buggy Depends on the Small Details

That is why our buggies are the ones that give long road service. Every small detail is looked after. There is not a screw or a bolt left out that would add strength to any part. No pains or material spared to make these buggies the best that can be built. Look at one of them and you will see that it is braced in every place that would give it added strength. Every place that is in the habit of breaking on other vehicles is re-enforced on the buggies we sell and there is just as much difference between a vehicle we sell and the other kind you see as there is between a tailor-made suit of clothes and a cheap manufactured one, because every buggy we sell is built to our own special specifications and that is how we get the road service. By experience we have learned where to re-enforce a buggy to make it wear. If you want a buggy that is built right, looks right, and is right in every detail of construction, we want your business.

Indictments Returned by a Federal Grand Jury in West Virginia Charge That the United Mine Workers Operated in That State in Such a Way as to Bring Themselves in Conflict With the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Indianapolis, June 9.—The indictment of President John White and eighteen other members of the United Mine Workers by the federal grand jury of West Virginia, which charged conspiracy in restraint of trade, created consternation in organized labor circles here, where the miners' offices are located, and there was a conference of the officers of international and national organizations on the situation. As the leaders here understand it, the conviction of the defendants would put a stop to organizing across state lines and would practically destroy labor organizations unless they confined themselves within state lines and thus escape the inhibitions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

They admit that it has serious phases and that it was to escape just such conditions that they urged the passage of an act exempting them from prosecution under the anti-trust law.

One of them said that if President Wilson signs the sundry civil bill that was vetoed by President Taft and lately repassed by congress, containing the provision that none of the money shall be used to prosecute labor organizations, it may be that the West Virginia indictments will have to be dismissed.

Steps will be taken at once to raise a defense fund, it was said, as the questions involved in the indictments relate practically to all labor organizations.

Under the terms of the indictment it is alleged the defendants conspired with the coal operators of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to raise wages in the West Virginia coal fields so as to prevent its competition with the other four states in the western market.

The indictments charged that the nineteen men affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America did, in Kanawha county, West Virginia and within the jurisdiction of the federal district court, engage in a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in the several states. The offense is said to have started Sept. 1, 1912, and continued since.

It is charged that the indicted men have been agents and members of an unincorporated voluntary organization of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mine Workers of America, having many thousands of members, who unlawfully combined and conspired together with the object and intent of unionizing and making members of said organization the laborers employed in and around the coal mines of the state of West Virginia in order that and with the intent that said organization, by regulating the wage to be paid to said laborers for their work, could and would fix and control the price at which coal mined in the state of West Virginia could not compete with coal mined in the western part of Pennsylvania and in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois in the markets of the states of the United States outside of West Virginia."

IT WAS News to McReynolds.
Washington, June 9.—Official Washington displayed much interest in the action of the federal district court at Charleston, W. Va., in indicting President John F. White and eighteen officials of the United Mine Workers of America on the charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. It has developed that the department of justice had no knowledge beforehand that this action was to be taken in West Virginia. Attorney General McReynolds declared that he was as much surprised as anyone that the indictments had been brought.

AS THE FRENCH REGARD US
Not Even Our Best Business Men Can Be Believed, They Say.

Paris, June 9.—The Temps in its weekly financial article says in reference to the receivership of the Frisco road that first impulse has been to condemn without distinction all American affairs. "But," the paper continues, "we must not generalize from one unfortunate case that no American security shall henceforth enter the French portfolio. It is surprising, however, that French financial institutions who issued these securities should have been content with a mere affirmation by the company's directors and bankers that it was a good affair. No independent verification of these statements was made. Let this be a lesson for the future. Let our banks have direct representatives in America to examine affairs offered even by the best houses in New York."

"Americans have an absolute different mentality in regard to business from what we have. Even the best of them can never be believed on his word."

NOT MUCH CLASS TO LOCAL TEAM

Rushville Aggregation Showed up in Great Style by Indianapolis Specials—Expected Happened

SCORE WAS ELEVEN TO ONE

Improvements Needed if Team Expects to Win Games—Contest Was Real Farce.

It was clearly shown yesterday that the Rushville team will have to get some ball players if the team expects to defeat anything of class. The locals looked like a bunch of kids along side the Indianapolis Specials and when the visitors completed two hours of romping around the bases they had eleven runs to their credit while Rushville had one lone marker.

It was about the punkest exhibition seen on the local ground the past two seasons. The game was turned into a farce and early in the contest it was seen that Rushville had no show. The management has sent out the S.O.S. signal for new players. The outfit was showed up in great style and as batters the team is about the zero of excitement. Rushville scored one run but Starkey for the Specials really deserved a shut-out. Starkey was about the whole show. He struck out sixteen men and allowed but four scattered hits. Two of these hits went to Klenk and Mattern and Cook got one each.

The Specials have a good team but nothing wonderful and the defeat of Rushville can be laid only to poor playing and the lack of real ball players. The team that faced the Specials was about 50 per cent. weaker than anything put in the field all last season. The management has no alibis to offer and no excuses are necessary to account for the defeat. It was simply good ball players against poor ones and the natural result followed. Hahn and Halterman did not report and it was a make shift team that faced the Specials. That the score was not larger was no fault of the Rushville team.

Poor support behind Avery gave the visitors two runs right off the reel. An unheard of stunt on the local grounds—two home runs in one inning—took all the pep, if there ever was any out of the locals. The two homers came in the second. One of the hits probably should have gone for a triple but the second was simply misjudged and when the ball got through rolling it was almost to the white bridge. Emmitt the first man up in the second slammed one to center field and the ball carried by a strong wind landed in the weeds near the fence and they are still
